

Abstract of the Disclosure:

A principal surface of a glass disk is mirror-polished. Then, the glass disk is subjected to a chemical treatment so as to remove a polishing-affected layer on the principal surface of the mirror-polished glass disk. Thereafter, a texture is formed on the principal surface of the glass disk by a tape. Thus, a glass substrate for a magnetic disk is obtained.